

From: J H
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/20/01 3:41pm
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I feel that the settlement proposed with Microsft is BOGUS. Refurbished equipment? They'll use old pc's with a few new parts and skate the issue. They need to have a baseline for this type of settlement. I mean, if it was I that got this deal, you bet you'd be getting Pentium 166's or less. This is too broad for justice. With this kind of settlement, the equipment can wind up costing as much as $20.00 or should I say as little as.

It appears that the more money you have the more laws you can break, and you write your punishment. A good example of our Judicial system at it's best.

Microsoft got away with bankrupting companies and alienating others..this is merely a slap on the wrist. Do something you can hold your head up for!

Talk Stocks with Smart Investors -- <http://www.ragingbull.com>

Click Below for Brokerage Specials for Raging Bull Users
<http://www.ragingbull.com/tradingcenter>

CC: @inetgw